MAKE A SPLASH

Here is how you can sport a pair of happy feet in the sticky weather dotted with puddles and pools of water

HAPPY FEET

- Damp feet are prone to many infections and fungi. Battle this by using antifungal-antibacterial absorbent powders that are available at your local chemist.
- Wearing cheap rubber shoes may seem like a smart idea but watch out for shoes that can give you awful shoe bites.
- Make sure you do not wear leather, suede or a material that soaks water because it will leave stinky feet and shoes.

MONSOON COMFORT FOOD

BEST FOOD FOR THIS MONSOON

Its pouring heavily outside and all that your heart desires is a hot mug of coffee and some spicy and hot snack. Hmmm Yummyyyyyyyyyy Isn't it? Well that's the best part of the monsoons. And what more, if you are here in India every state has its own monsoon delicacies to suit your taste buds. Hot hot pakoras, spicy chaat, hot soup, chips, kadak chai, masala chai and the list goes on and on. But is it good to stuff your belly with these food all through the monsoon? Well definitely not. So here are some "must have" and "must avoid" kind of food during the monsoon. Read further to catch a glimpse of it and enjoy your monsoon.

Hot soup: A bowl of hot soup with a dash of minced garlic is good during the monsoons. It gives that much needed warmth. It is also a good diet for those who are unable to workout (as much as they do normally) during the monsoon. In case of throat infection a bowl of hot soup could act as a sigh of relief and at the same time fill your stomach as well.

Kadak chai or masala chai: It acts as a perfect beverage during the monsoon season. The cardamom and cinnamon used in preparing masala tea also helps in keeping away from throat infections and cold. For those of you who plan to go for a long ride in the rain, it will be fun and refreshing to just stop by a tea stall and have a hot cup of tea.

Pakorras: A cup of hot tea and a plate of pakoras are an unbeatable combination during the rainy season. You can choose from various kinds of pakoras like onion pakora, spinach pakora, potato pakora, paneer pakora, green chilli pakora and it goes on. Having said that avoid having street side pakoras during monsoon, instead try to prepare it at home.

Preparation Time: 15 minutes, Cooking Time: 10 minutes, Serves: 2 servings

Step-1 : Take sliced onion in a large bowl.

Step-2 : Add gram flour, rice flour, ginger, curry leaves, red chilli powder, baking soda, coriander leaves and salt.

Onion Pakoda Recipe

Ingredients:

- 3 medium size Onions, finely sliced
- 1/2 cup Gram Flour (Besan Flour)
- 1/4 cup Rice Flour
- 1 teaspoon grated Ginger
- 5-7 Curry Leaves, chopped, optional
- 1/2 teaspoon Red Chilli Powder
- A pinch of Baking Soda (soda-bi-carbonate)
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped Coriander Leaves
- Oil, for deep frying
- Salt to taste

Step-3 : Mix well using spoon and keep aside for 10 min.

Step-4 : Add water little by little (approx. 1/4 cup) and mix all the ingredients such that sliced onion is coated well with flour batter. Do not add more water unless required – if batter becomes too watery or thin then pakodas will not turn crispy.

Step-5 : Heat oil in a deep pan over medium flame. Check whether oil is sufficiently hot or not by dropping a pinch of mixture in hot oil – if it comes upward immediately, then oil is sufficiently hot for deep frying. Take small portion of mixture in the hand and gently drop 3-4 small fritters into the oil and deep-fry until they turn golden brown in color – keep stirring occasionally in between so that they cook evenly and keep heat/flame to medium.

Step-6 : Take them out using slotted spoon and drain excess oil. Place them on paper towel in a plate to absorb excess oil. Repeat the process for remaining batter and deep-fry in batches. Do not over crowd the oil with onion fritters, this will help them cook evenly.

GET MONSOON READY

It's time you gear up to face the menacing downpour and still look your best. Here are a few makeup tips.

Foundation: It is better not to use foundation during monsoon unless you want to get caught in a messy position. Instead use face powder.

Mascara: While using mascaras and eyeliners select water resistant types, do not use kajal during monsoon.

Eyeshadow: Think sheer and pastel. Shades of brown, pink and beige are just right for easy maintenance in the rains.

Powder: Use powder only sparingly just so much that is necessary to remove the oil off your face and nose.

Lips: Use the long lasting colour-stay/non-transfer variety of lipsticks. Avoid the creamy, glossy ones and opt for powder matte tones or crème matte tints.

Eyebrows: Keep up with your tweezing/threading, but forget the eyebrow pencil.

Blush: Apply blush lightly - it looks prettiest when you can't tell that you're wearing it. Cream blushers are fab and they are water-friendly too! Blend the blush outwards so that it does not look like a blob of colour on the cheek. Shades of peaches and browns are a must.

Hair: During the monsoon your hair is in a mess. But don't worry follow these tips to get a tangle free, clean and healthy hair.

- Don't use hair sprays or gels during monsoon as the hair lacquers and gums can stick to scalp causing dandruff.
- Dry massage the scalp with finger tips daily at nights to maintain blood circulation.
- Use hot oil treatment once a week to keep hair problem free.
- Long hair should be tied up into a top knot while going outdoor.
- Short hair can be tied to a neat tapering style so that even when it gets wet, it can bounce back into its shape when it's dry.
- If you travel a lot, go for a good, trim haircut because, hair that gets wet often is better off short. Short hair is easy to comb and easy to dry.
- If you have long hair make sure you dry your hair as soon as it gets wet. Keeping a Turkish towel and a travel hairdryer at your workplace is a good idea.

HEALTHY TIPS FOR MONSOON

Monsoon brings back with it the time to romance and be adventurous. The cloudy sky, the downpour and lush greenery all around makes the season a beautiful time to enjoy and get relief from the harsh and sweaty summers. There is no escape from moving in the rain or dumpy filth, but then you must protect yourself from getting sick.

Here are some measures which you may try:

- Eat a healthy diet containing lot of fresh fruits and seasonal vegetables so that your body has a good store of all protective nutrients like vitamin A, C, E, and B-complex and other antioxidants and minerals.
- Drink a bowl of hot vegetable soup or a cup of freshly brewed green tea as the temperature will give warmth and the ingredients will boost your immunity.
- Avoid eating raw foods during monsoon. Wash the vegetables and fruits properly before consuming. Avoid eating outside especially from the road side stalls.

Benefits of Ginger Tea In Monsoon

- ✓ Remedy for motion sickness
- ✓ Cures stomach discomfort
- ✓ Deals with respiratory issues
- ✓ Improves blood circulation
- ✓ Cures Menstrual problems

- Karela (bitter melon)
- Neem (bitter herbs)
- Haldi (Turmeric)

These contain antioxidants & medicinal properties that prevent from infection.

FOODS TO BE AVOIDED DURING MONSOON

Try not to have sea foods.
Try including a lot of veggie in your diet. Go for green salads, as it will make you feel full and keep you from unwanted food cravings.
Eat healthy, stay fit and enjoy life!!!

GOING ORGANIC IS HEALTHY

- ★ Average woman applies chemical beauty products to her skin during the course of a day and up to 60% of these are absorbed into the bloodstream
- ★ Organic beauty products are better for your skin because what you put on your skin eventually ends up in your body. When you eat something, the enzymes in your saliva and stomach help to break it down and flush it out of your body.
- ★ When you put these chemicals on your skin, they are absorbed straight into your bloodstream without filtering of any kind, going directly to your delicate organs.

So, if you are looking for organic products for your skin and hair we have ESSENCE OF NATURE at 1st floor where you will get 100% natural and organic products from all your favourite brands. Get smarter get healthy.

Monsoon do's: Get drenched in the rain, dig into cheesy delights and if you want, hum old Bollywood numbers. Monsoon don'ts:

Don't step out without sunscreen (clouds don't mean no sun) and don't clog up your face in an attempt to hide acne blemishes that are so common this season. We tell you how to get blemish-free natural-looking monsoon face, but smartly.

Smart Application

- Moisturiser to your entire face. Use only a water-based moisturiser that absorbs quickly into your skin.
- Put a small dot of foundation you want to apply on your palm and use a fresh sponge to soak it in. With light dabs, press the makeup sponge all over your face; apply a very thin coat of foundation evenly over the blemish. Repeat the application of foundation makeup. Multiple thin layers works better than one thick one.
- Then, dab a drop of concealer directly on the blemish with a fine makeup brush. If the blemish is red, pick a concealer with a yellow or green base. Use feather-light strokes to keep from adding too much.
- Allow the concealer to set, and apply a light dusting of translucent powder.

CONCEALER FOUNDATION

The easiest way to hide all blemishes & marks on your face is to use a concealer. Or else, opt for a base foundation on skin. The foundation shade should be natural and similar to your skin tone. Waterproof foundation is perfect for monsoon. Blend the waterproof foundation with a moisturiser and apply. Skip the regular foundation in this season. You can apply the concealer before or after foundation, but more often than not, you will find the foundation applied first may cover blemishes perfectly!

Glowing Tips From Celebrities

Kareena Kapoor is envied by many for her radiant skin. But when she has been asked the secret behind her glowing complexion, she thanks her genes. Not only that, Bebo also drinks at least 6 glasses of boiled water every day. Also be it for films or in real life, she makes it a point to use minimal makeup always. And whenever she comes back from shooting, she removes all her makeup. Kareena says she does not rely on facials at all. Also she never uses a pancake makeup or any kind of creams as they have chemicals.

Sonam Kapoor says "It's important to tone and moisturize. I don't leave home without under-eye cream and sunscreen." Her favourite skin and hair products are White Perfect Laser by L'Oréal (a moisturizer), L'Oréal's UV Perfect sunscreen, L'Oréal White Perfect (for cleansing), and L'Oréal Fall Repair 3x shampoo and conditioner. "I wash my hair every two days and do spa treatments once a month," she says.

Look pretty in the rains

SKIN CARE

Follow your cleaning, toning and moisturising routine religiously, that's the only way to maintain a healthy glowing skin.

FOUNDATION

Loose powders help you perspire less. The best way to use powders is with a make-up sponge while your face is still damp after applying a moisturiser. For an evening look if you still want foundation choose a water-proof one.

EYE MAKE-UP

Wearing a matte eye shadow is a big no no for the season. A pearl and shine ones are more long lasting. Use a waterproof kohl for a smudge free look. It is always better to opt for a coloured water proof kohl or a gel eyeliner in place of an eyeshadow, and your eyes will get all attention needed. And never forget to pile on layers of the water proof mascara.

FACE MIST

This is what can keep your make-up stay on your skin, despite the heat and humidity. Make your own face mist: mix rose water with mineral water and store in a spray bottle. Spray this mist after every make-up it would set the make-up and make it water friendly.

LIPS

This monsoon make sure you get yourself a matte lip pencil. More than summer, monsoon with its humidity makes your lipstick bleed faster; a lip pencil will prevent it. Choose tinted lip balms over a natural lip liner for best results. Matte lipstick, transfer resistance lipsticks are some other textures you can go with. For more long lasting effect, after every lipstick application dab some loose powder over the lipstick through a tissue paper.

BB + CC CREAMS

Also known as Blemish Balm (BB) Cream, these offer smart solutions to blemishes. Apply with your fingers: dot on your face and then blend in. BB cream does a great job at concealing under eye circles too. Dot under the eyes, blend in. After making sure it's set, apply the same cream to the rest of your face.

Once your BB cream is dry, set with a translucent powder. Always dab or pat your concealer or BB cream, never swipe or wipe. If you swipe it, it will rub off the top of your blemish making it even more prominent.

CC creams or colour correctors are different from concealers; they come in different colours like green, purple, or orange. Use them to correct laws like under eye circles, redness, or a sallow complexion. Apply before your foundation. Orange and yellow for under the eyes; green is for redness on the skin and purple to counteract sallow complexions.
